

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To prevent securely writing of file by compute virus or unjust access, and protect the user from the thread of unjust file writing.

A computer system 1 comprising a control unit 11 for executing various control processes, storage device 37 for storing a file, with the control unit 11 executing writing of file into the storage device 37 by making use of file management system 33 by an OS 32 as basic software, a key switch 25 for controlling changeover of write permission or rejection to the storage device 37 on the basis of changeover input by a user, and write control software 34, in which the file management system 33 is set to transmit to the storage device 37 by way of the write control software 34 when transmitting the write command to the storage device 37.

Selected Drawing: Fig. 3